

Communication and Language Reception - Long Term Plan

Statutory Guidance from the EYFS Framework for Communication and Language:

The development of children's spoken language underpins all seven areas of learning and development. Children's back-and-forth interactions from an early age form the foundations for language and cognitive development. The number and quality of the conversations they have with adults and peers throughout the day in a language-rich environment is crucial. By commenting on what children are interested in or doing, and echoing back what they say with new vocabulary added, practitioners will build children's language effectively. Reading frequently to children, and engaging them actively in stories, non-fiction, rhymes and poems, and then providing them with extensive opportunities to use and embed new words in a range of contexts, will give children the opportunity to thrive. Through conversation, story-telling and role play, where children share their ideas with support and modelling from their teacher, and sensitive questioning that invites them to elaborate, children become comfortable using a rich range of vocabulary and language structures.

Ongoing Communication and Language skills developed throughout the year	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Children will continue to learn new vocabulary and its meaning through the Write Stuff writing scheme and the use of 'Grandma Fantastic'. Children will continue to use new vocabulary in conversations and discussions – with teachers, parents and peers. Subject specific vocabulary will be sent home to parents prior to each half terms learning so that specific vocabulary can be used and modelled at home. The same vocabulary will be displayed in the classroom for adults working with the children in provision / adult let activities. Children will continue to learn new rhymes, poems and songs – some of which they can recite from memory. All children will be assessed on entry for their Communication and Language skills. Where required one to one and group interventions will take place. Referrals to Speech and Language will be made at the earliest opportunity.

The Reception Year provides the foundation for communication and language skills children will build upon in Year one.	The national curriculum for English reflects the importance of spoken language in pupils' development across the whole curriculum – cognitively, socially and linguistically. Spoken language underpins the development of reading and writing. The quality and variety of language that pupils hear and speak are vital for developing their vocabulary and grammar and their understanding for reading and writing. Teachers should therefore ensure the continual development of pupils' confidence and competence in spoken language and listening skills. Pupils should develop a capacity to explain their understanding of books and other reading, and to prepare their ideas before they write. They must be assisted in making their thinking clear to themselves as well as to others, and teachers should ensure that pupils build secure foundations by using discussion to probe and remedy their misconceptions. Pupils should also be taught to understand and use the conventions for discussion and debate. All pupils should be enabled to participate in and gain knowledge, skills and understanding associated with the artistic practice of drama. Pupils should be able to adopt, create and sustain a range of roles, responding appropriately to others in role. They should have opportunities to improvise, devise and script drama for one another and a range of audiences, as well as to rehearse, refine, share and respond thoughtfully to drama and theatre performances. Statutory requirements which underpin all aspects of spoken language across the 6 years of primary education form part of the national curriculum.
